

FOXTON PARISH COUNCIL

Parish Councillor Vacancy

Foxton Parish Council has a Parish Councillor Vacancy and is looking for an enthusiastic Foxton resident to fill the vacancy. If you are interested in becoming a councillor, and would like to make a difference by influencing decisions that affect your community, please contact Foxton's parish clerk for more information (contact details below).

The Parish Council meets on the first Monday of the month at 7.30/ 7.45pm, for approximately two hours and council meetings are open to the public. A parish, town or community council is the closest level of local government to the community. The Parish Council is a local authority in its own right that represents and makes decisions on behalf of its parish and provides services for them. Councillors are elected, or in the case of a casual vacancy can be co-opted, and are unpaid for their time. Becoming a parish councillor is a rewarding experience and is a way of giving something back to your community. A Parish Councillor's time commitment can average 4-6 hours per week and may sometimes be more or less than this. Time commitment varies throughout the year and can depend on role responsibilities. As well as monthly Parish Council meetings, the Planning Committee and working groups also hold meetings on average once per month.
